

BALTIC ASSEMBLY

RESOLUTION

Concerning the Integration of the Baltic States in the Field of Energy

The Baltic Assembly believes that one of the most urgent topics today is the resolution of energy issues in the Baltic States. By joining their efforts in the settlement of issues related to energy, the Baltic States would become more attractive to foreign investors and could more easily integrate into the energy systems of Europe.

Therefore, the Baltic Assembly recommends to the Baltic Council of Ministers:

1) to convene joint meetings of Ministers responsible for energy policies to draft common energy programmes and to present information on the existing common energy systems.

2) to consider the formation of a common energy system which would avoid energy shortages and would permit a more efficient utilisation of surplus energy.

Vilnius, November 13, 1994